HAEMEK HOSPITAL, AFULA

As most of you will know, one of Ealing UJIA's earlier projects was to fundraise for the Ha'emek Hospital in Afula. Please see the email below from some appreciative visitors to the hospital:

"Dear members of Ealing Synagogue,

We lived in Ealing from 2002 till 2012 and used to visit the synagogue on Jewish holidays. In 2012 we moved back to Israel and we live in the north of Israel near the city of Afula. Earlier this week, Danit underwent an emergency, lifesaving operation at Ha-Emek Hospital, Afula. How delighted and amazed we were to discover that Ealing synagogue has donated to that hospital's operation theatre. Please see pictures attached.

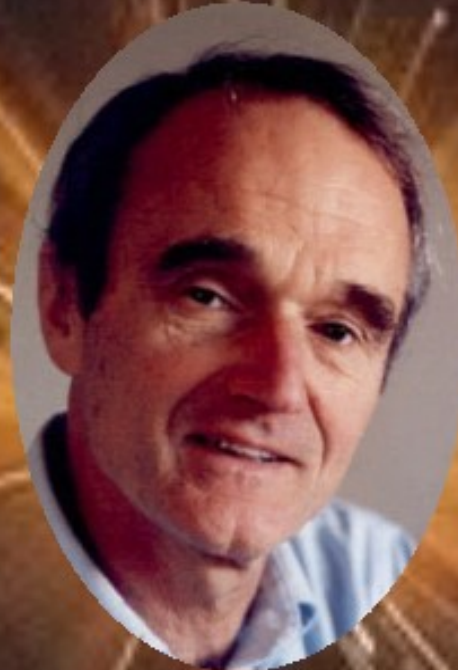

Well done and many thanks for your donations over the years!!!!

*Kind regards,
Danit and Jonathan Ben-Dov, Kefar – Tavor, Israel"*

Topic: Science has discovered
God - Literally and even atheists agree!

It was less than 50 years ago that science discovered that our universe had a beginning, a creation. Until that discovery, the overwhelming majority of scientists assumed the universe was eternal, and as such, the Bible was obviously wrong right from the first sentence. Not only has science retracted that erroneous opinion, but equally significant, the description of the creating force matches spot on the Biblical description of God.
